Our charges for trade waste are additional to the charges set out in this fact sheet. Customers with trade waste should refer to <https://askus.altogethergroup.com.au/hc/en-us/articles/4403700514329-Trade-waste>.

changes in pricing

Our prices are subject to change. If we change our prices, we will let you know as soon as practicable, and in any event no later than our first bill for the period when the change in our charges takes effect, or otherwise in accordance with any applicable laws and codes.

Prices for drinking water and recycled water usage will go up as shown in the table above when Sydney Water applies 'drought' pricing. Drought pricing is applied if dam levels drop below 60% and will stop applying after dam levels recover to above 70%. This change can occur during a billing period and will apply from the day that Sydney Water applies 'drought' pricing until it stops applying drought pricing.

The Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal (IPART) determines water and wastewater pricing for Sydney Water and Hunter Water and local councils. Whilst IPART does not determine water and wastewater prices for private water and wastewater utilities, changes to Sydney Water and Hunter Water charges throughout the year will impact our fees and charges.

Altogether is committed to offering our customers a premium service that is sustainable with pricing that encourages best practice behaviour. We thank you for embracing our recycled water service to help ensure Australia's sustainable future.

pricing for the 3 financial years commencing 1 July 2025

On 1 July of each of 2025, 2026 and 2027 our prices will vary, as a maximum, by the Consumer Price Index All Groups Index for Sydney published by the Australian Bureau of Statistics for the most recent quarter¹.
